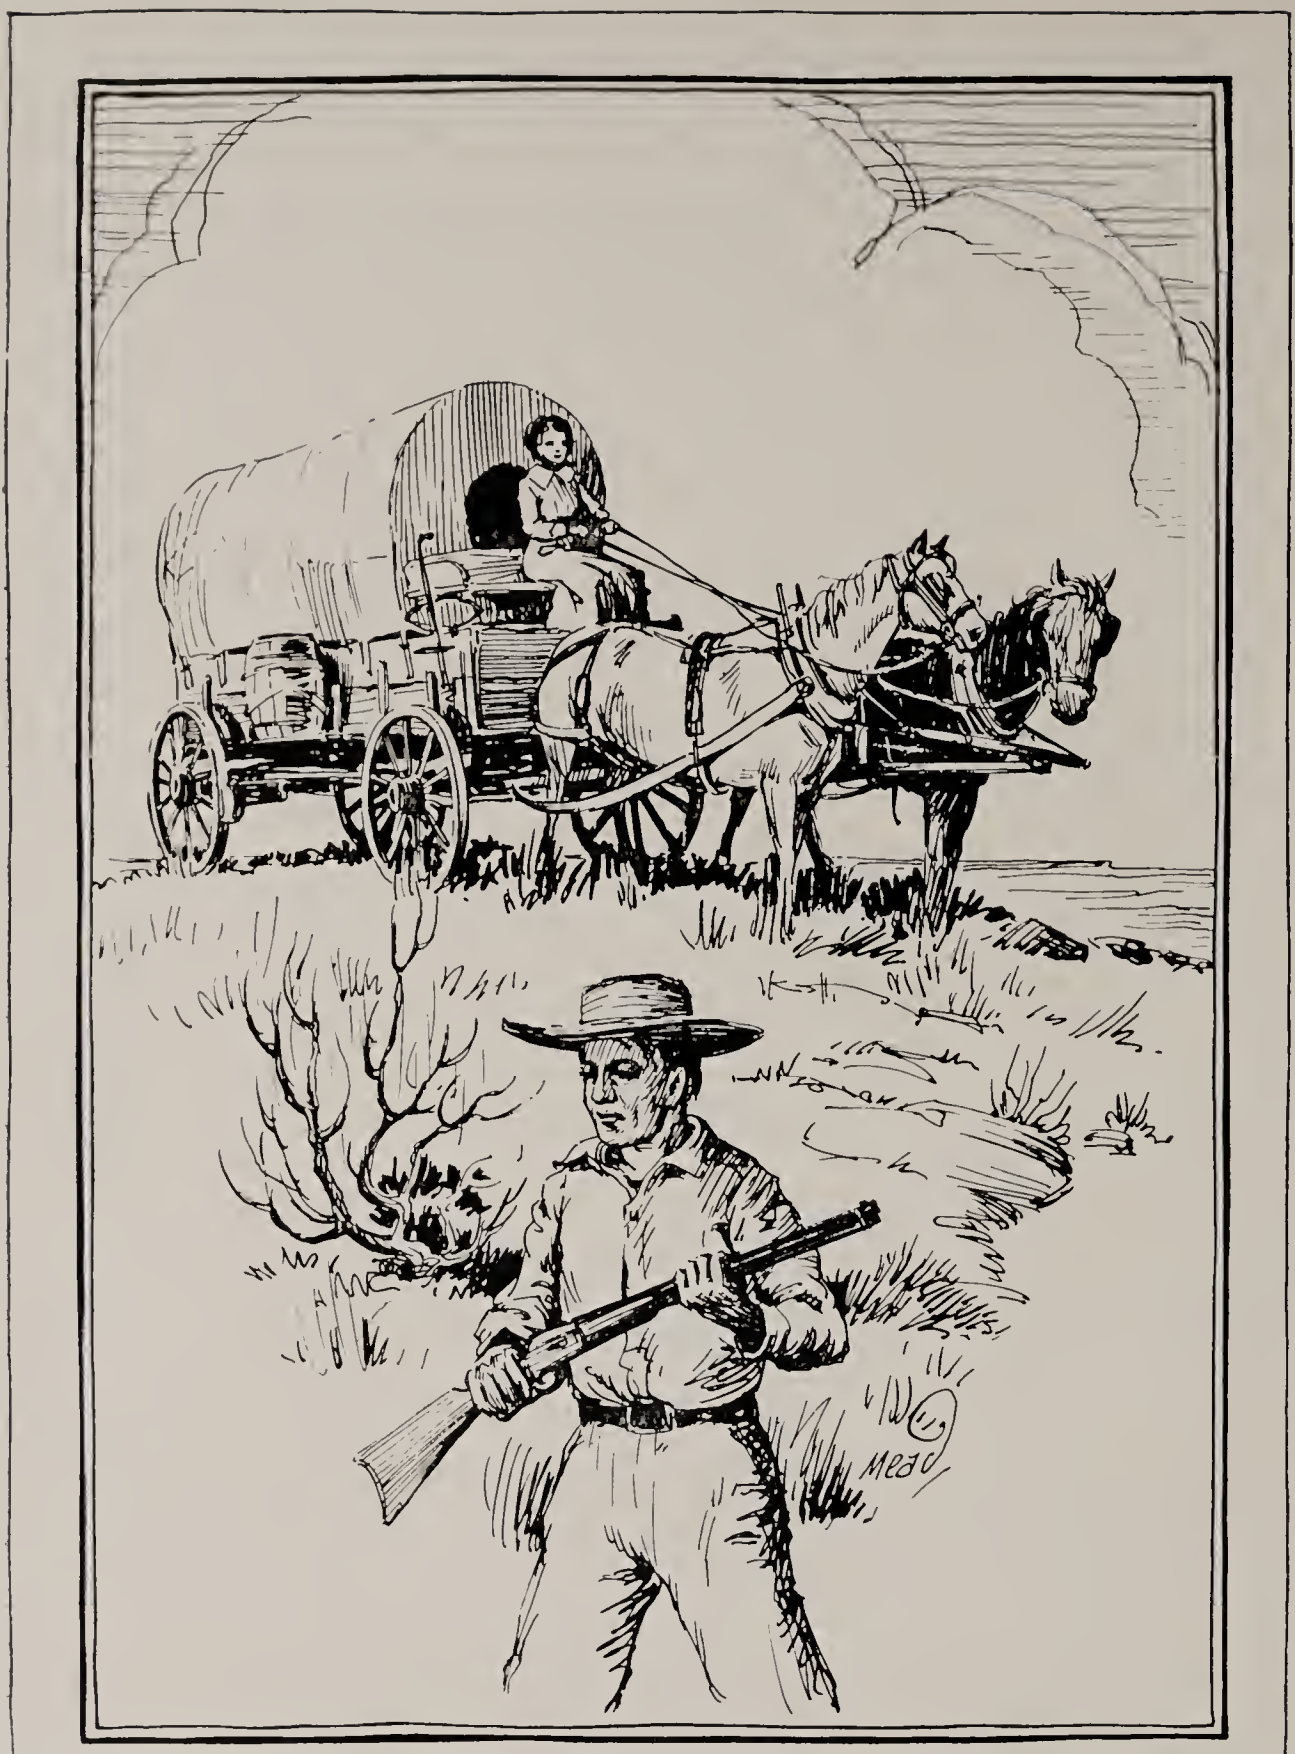
Editor's Note

To present, in permanent form the activities of 1935-36, has been our purpose in editing this book. If, in later years Le Mirage brings memories of the joys and happiness you have shared at West Texas State Teachers College, we have achieved our purpose.



DEDICATION

This yearbook is dedicated to the people who have builded and achieved in Texas during the last hundred years. During this period of time, Texas has been changed from a wilderness and a land of Indians into a great commonwealth. Its material resources are almost unlimited, and much progress has been made during the past century. It is the hope of Le Mirage Staff that this book will reflect in a small way, at least, the educational and cultural development in Northwest Texas.

STATE BOARD OF TEACHERS COLLEGE REGENTS

The governing board of the state teachers colleges of Texas is composed of nine members. They are appointed by the Governor of the State for a period of six years. The following people now constitute the board: Henry Paulus, President Yoakum; Thomas H. Ball, Vice-President, Houston; J. E. Hill, Amarillo; J. E. Josey, Houston; J. G. Ulmer, Tyler; Mrs. J. K. Beretta, San Antonio; Robert A. Stuart, Fort Worth; J. D. Jackson, Alpine; and V. A. Collins, Livingston. H. A. Turner of Austin is Secretary of the Board.

It is the duty of this board to determine the general policies of the system of state teachers colleges, and through the administrative head of each institution to develop the activities of the college under his control. The Texas state teachers colleges have been fortunate in having its board composed of a fine group of progressive citizens coming from various sections of the State.

Dear Friends:

The quality of one's life is pretty much revealed by the strength of his aspiration to learn. To be ignorant is no disgrace if one has an unquenchable desire for knowledge; to be ignorant without such desire is to be a part of the burdensome mass of human driftwood.

The value of one's life is pretty much determined by the use he makes of the learning he acquires. A learned crook is a greater social liability than is an ignorant one, but a learned gentleman is the republic's greatest security.

It is hoped that your college experience has both strengthened your desire to know and given social purpose to your increased knowledge. In such results are to be found the main purpose of all true education and the most abiding happiness of mankind.

Cordially yours,

J. A. Tice

President of College.

To Our Students:

This is an important era in the history of the world. The many changes now being made in governmental activity, in economic ideals, in industrial organization, and in social and spiritual concepts are basic factors in rebuilding national, state, and individual security.

So far as I can tell, only one class of our people fail fully to feel the immediate or permanent effects of the depression. That class is represented by the earnest seeker of truth—the efficient student. Power to think effectively, the ability to live worthily, and a genius to create permanent values are not bound by time, place, and material alone. These qualities are the fruitage of people who would seek to know. In the hands of such individuals, the disturbing changes now producing a distressed world will become a blessing to God's children everywhere.

I congratulate you upon the opportunity you have at this time!

Sincerely,

R. P. Garrett

Dean of College

DEAN OF WOMEN

The threefold aspect of the work of a dean of women is administrative, academic, and social, all of which terminate in the welfare of women students.

In substituting for Dean Geraldine Green, I have been impressed by the fact that her duties are limited only by her strength and by the hours in the day, and that the desired result of the work of every dean of women should be a "unique womanhood, broad enough to utilize all her developed possibilities for service, deep enough to insure stability in all the stress of life, and flexible enough to adapt her to any right demand of changing social conditions."

The effectiveness of the dean's work for 1935-36 has been due to the support, co-operation, and good-will of the faculty and student body. For this happy ending of the year we are most grateful to you.

Sincerely,

Edna Graham

Your Acting Dean of Women.

DEAN OF MEN

The office of Dean of Men was established as a service agency for the men of the institution. Administrative, housing, and advisory duties make up the work of this office.

The session of 1935-36 has been characterized by the splendid spirit of the student body. It is a fine thing to see young men and women seriously accept responsibility and measure up to the expectation of the institution. The Dean of Men stands ready to aid in the solution of institutional problems, and desires the fellowship and companionship of the men of the institution.

Sincerely,

Harris M Lord

STUDENT COUNCIL

This group was organized in 1920 so that there might be an opportunity for the students to voice their ideas and ideals for different needs on the campus. The President of the college maintains them as a cabinet of representatives to aid him in formulating policies for the better welfare of the students.

The Student Council is composed of ten members. Each class selects two representatives and two are chosen from the student body at large. The council meets regularly on the first and third Mondays of every month and holds such called meetings as are necessary from time to time to deal with emergency situations.

"Parting is Such Sweet Sorrow"

At last we have attained the goal toward which we have been working for four years. Our pleasure in achievement is mingled with the sorrow of breaking the bonds of fellowship and friendship, of leaving the place of preparation for the field of service.

We realize that alone we could have but failed, had not our parents and supporters, the citizens of Texas, the Federal government, and the faculty given us their support. To them we are grateful; we can best show our appreciation by our loyalty to the teaching profession and to the high and noble ideals of W. T.

We are proud to be our Alma Mater's graduating class of '36 and to finish our college careers in the Centennial year of our magnificent state. May the future graduating classes of our beloved institution strive, as we have done, to uphold the high moral and educational standards for which our Alma Mater was founded.

As we accept the torch of responsibility to pass on to others that which we have learned, may the trust placed in us be fully justified.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR CLASS

Rising above confusion which resulted from abrupt changes in its officers, the Junior Class of 1935-36 has prospered in its year's activity. The group has greatly enjoyed and appreciated the sponsorship of Professor and Mrs. S. H. Condron, who have assisted in making the social life a real success. Culminating the year, the Juniors will entertain members of the Senior Class with the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

In continuing the work begun last year, this class, under the leadership and guidance of Dr. A. M. Meyer, has been very successful. To uphold the traditions of W. T. and to support all school activities have been our aim. Throughout the succeeding two years we hope to further our progress to a still greater extent and continue to be one of the foremost classes in leadership and loyalty to our Alma Mater.

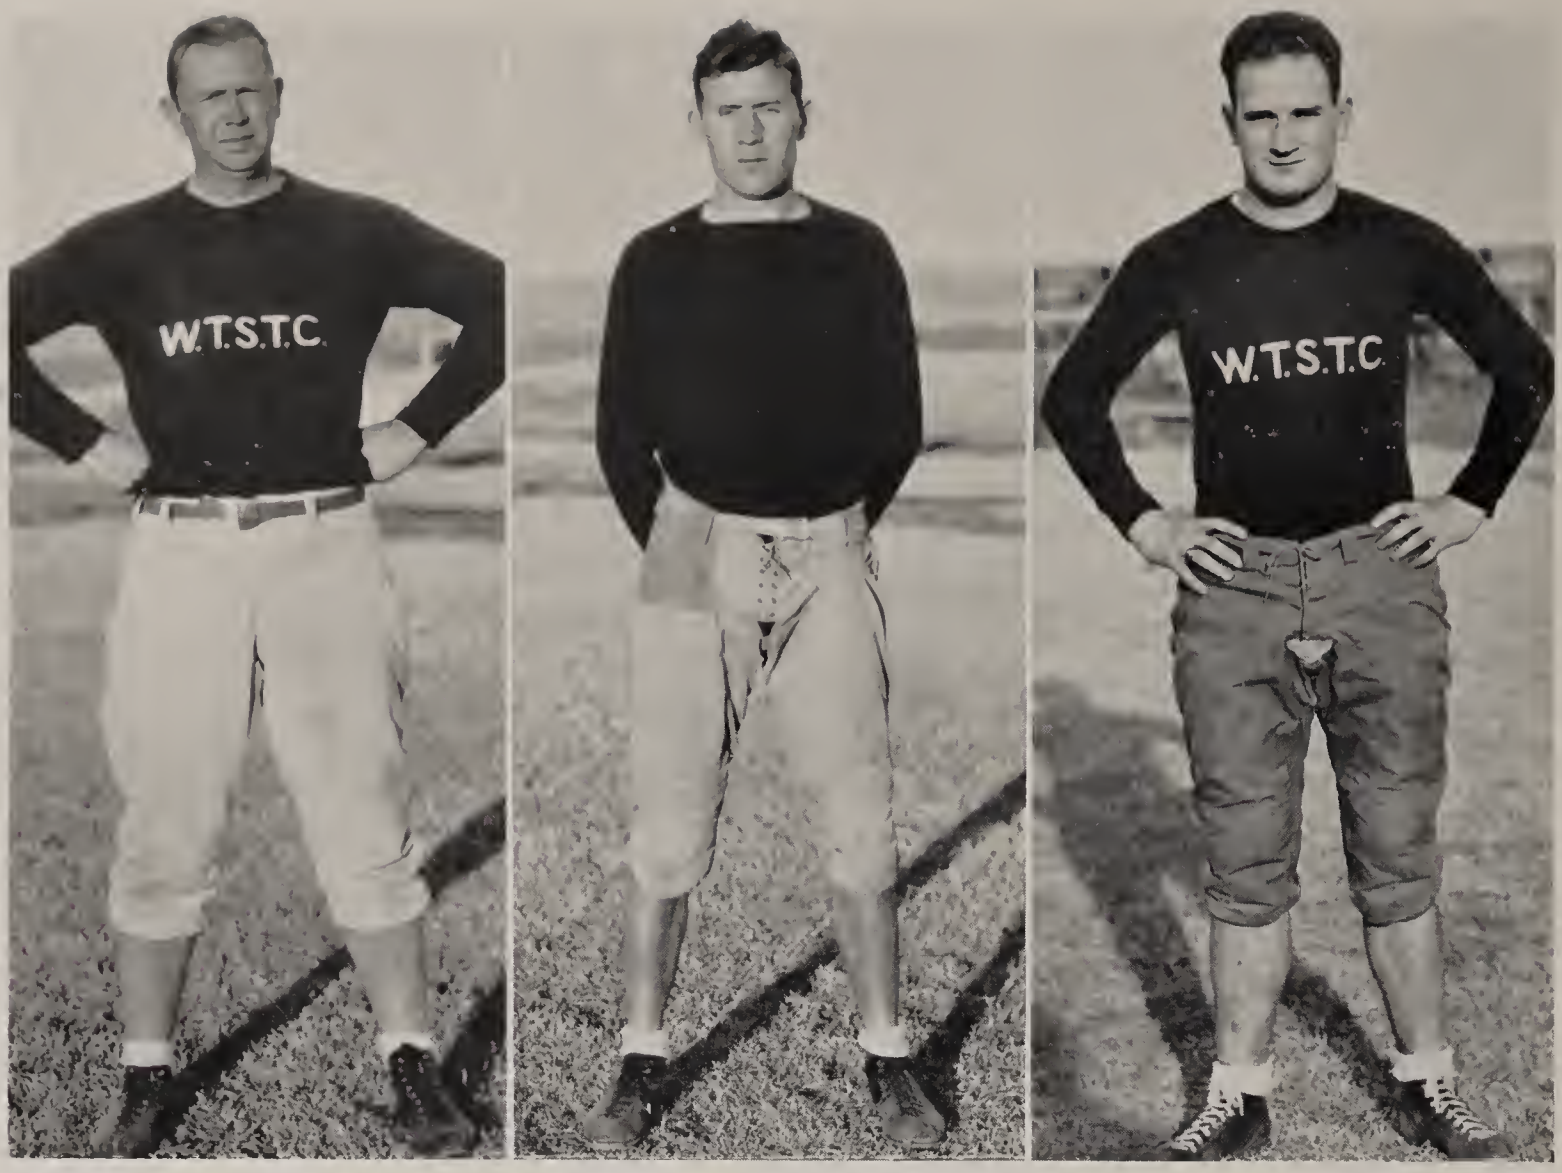
ATHLETICS



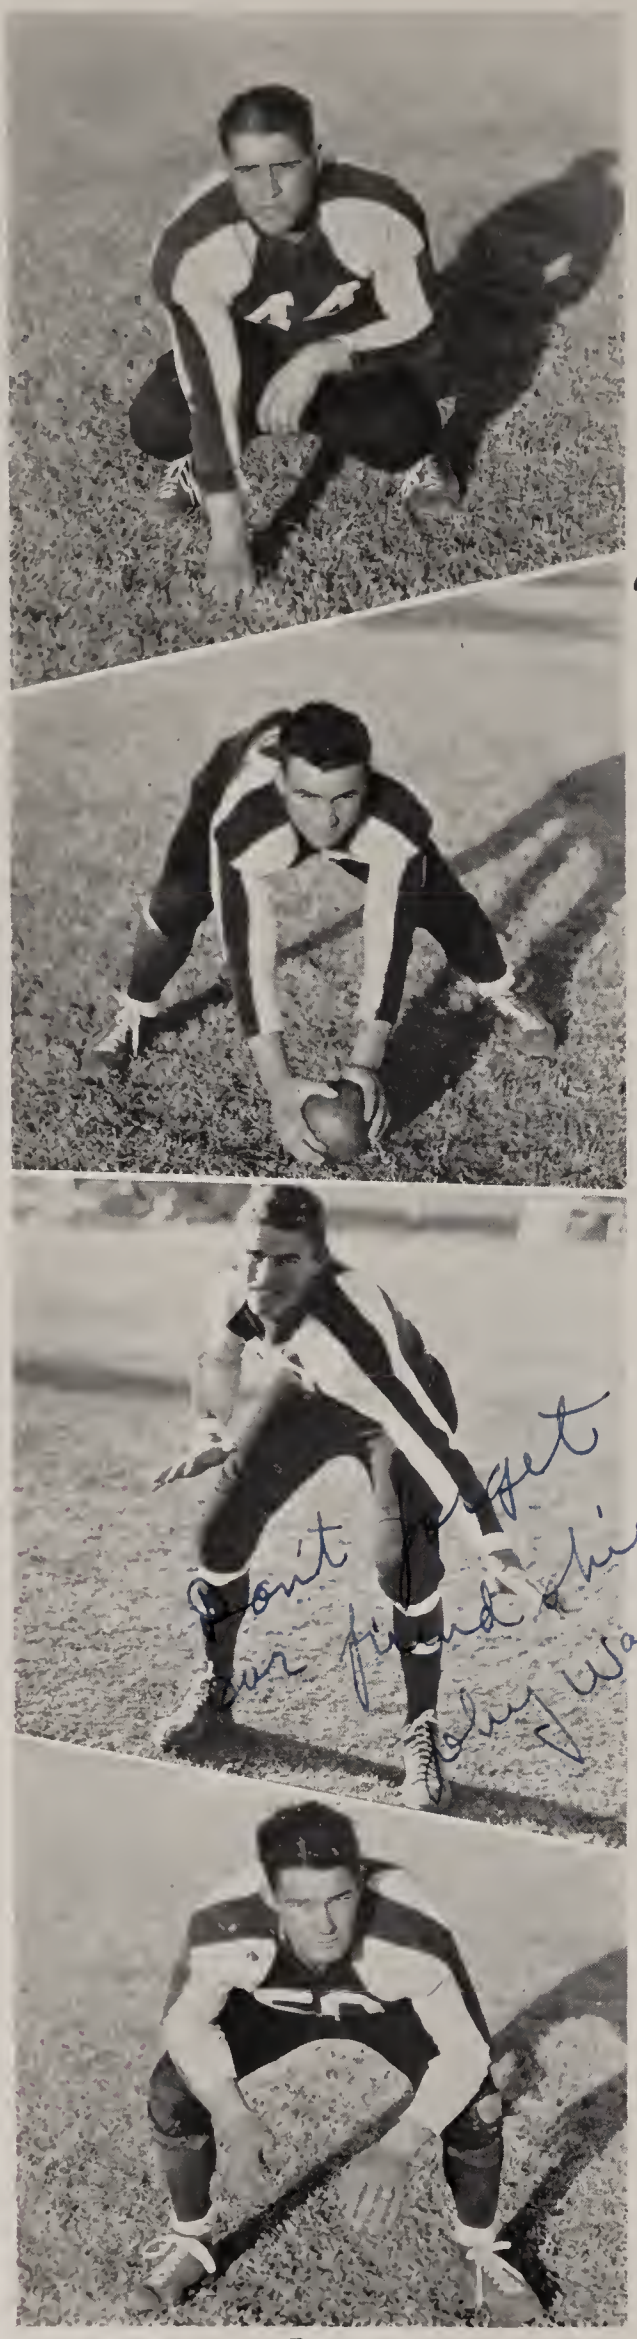
WEST TEXAS COACHES

Coach Al Baggett assumed his duties as head of the athletic department at W. T. in September 1933. He has obtained an enviable record in the coaching world as head mentor of athletics at Vernon High School and Amarillo Junior College. Upon his shoulders rests the responsibility of this department. How well he has fulfilled his position can be ascertained by the steady advancement of the college teams in every sport. At present, Coach Baggett is the pilot of one of the most complete athletic plants in the Southwest. Indeed he is a competent organizer and a sincere worker in this capacity. The future of W. T. sports is certainly bright.

Another great reason for the success of this department is the ability of Bob Cox, assistant coach and freshman basketball mentor. Cox is one of Baggett's most polished products at Amarillo Junior College. He received his degree at Duke University in 1934 where he was selected as an All-Southern halfback. There is no doubt that his ability as a coach is equal to his ability as a performer. To him is due our wonderful supply of backfield aces.

Cagle Teague graduated from W. T. in 1935 where he was the sparkplug of the '34 football team. For the past year he has played the role of freshman football coach. Teague was instrumental in moulding a freshman team that gave great promise of developing into a superior combination in the morrow.

FOOTBALL



Rankin
Jackson
Waggoner
Meek

Captain Rankin exhibited his aggressiveness as a guard and capable leader. John came to West Texas with little high school experience, and almost overnight developed into one of the most brilliant Buffalo gridmen to play this place. His cool, mechanical style intermingled with his football brains makes his place a difficult one to replace.

Captain-elect Leo Jackson was selected to guide the destinies of the 1936 edition because of his gentle temperament, humorous nature, and coolheadedness. Jackson is one that enjoys it when the going gets rough. The next team is expected to parade in grand fashion with "Wildcat" at the helm.

Toby Waggoner came to Canyon from Amarillo Junior College. Waggoner was a tower of defense last year, and with two more years to go, he is sure to become one of W. T.'s immortal wing-men. His ability to crack the interference is almost beyond reproach.

In numerous all-time Buffalo team selections, Clinton Meek has been repeatedly selected as tackle. Meek's play is characterized by his acumen to sift through the opposing line and down the runner before he gets a fair start.

Kotton McGehee has gradually developed into one of the hardest blocking backs on the aggregation. He is expected to return next year.

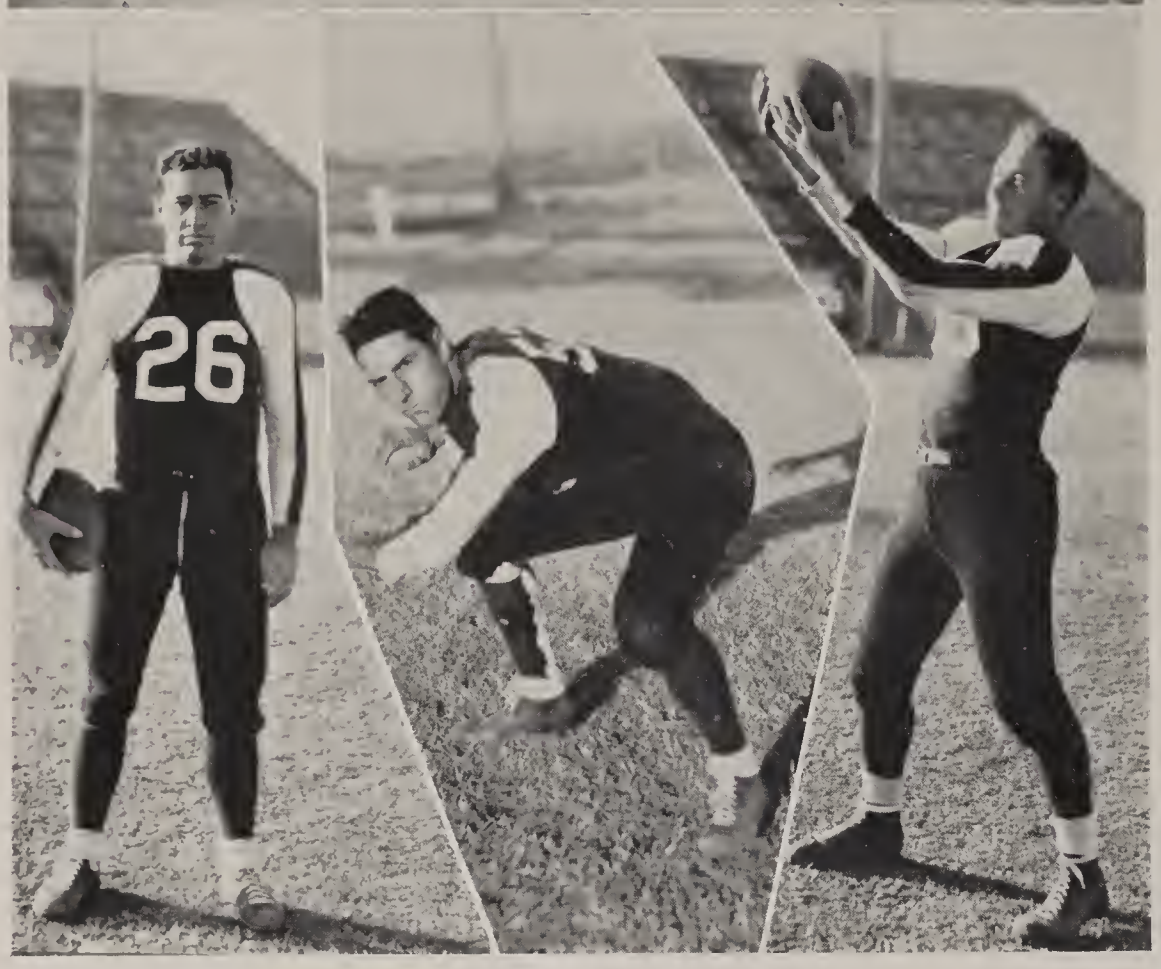
With no high school experience, George Caviness exhibited a natural admiration for the game, and saw much service until he was handicapped by a severe shoulder injury.

Craig Walling is a broad shouldered strappling gridder that proved to be a constant menace to the opposition by his stellar defensive work. His long-distance kicking places him in a position to carry a majority of the punting duties in the future.

Si Marchbanks was constantly pushing Captain-elect Leo Jackson for a starting position, and indicated by his conservative ruggedness that he will be a formidable opponent for the next two years.

Floyd Murry was the jackrabbit of the ranks. Before his leg injury, his triple threat ability made him an invaluable asset to the backfield.

Conway Butler exhibited smooth running and clever blocking which marked him as a potent factor for the next two-years' competition.



Lewis Gibson displayed his mettle by flashing a peculiar style of dodging and side-stepping that made him a hard runner to stop.

Stina Cain, another Amarillo Junior College product, started at the right wing where he distinguished himself by his blocking and superb pass-snatching. "Sugar" is one of the most sensational offensive ends to represent the maroon and white. He still has one year of eligibility.

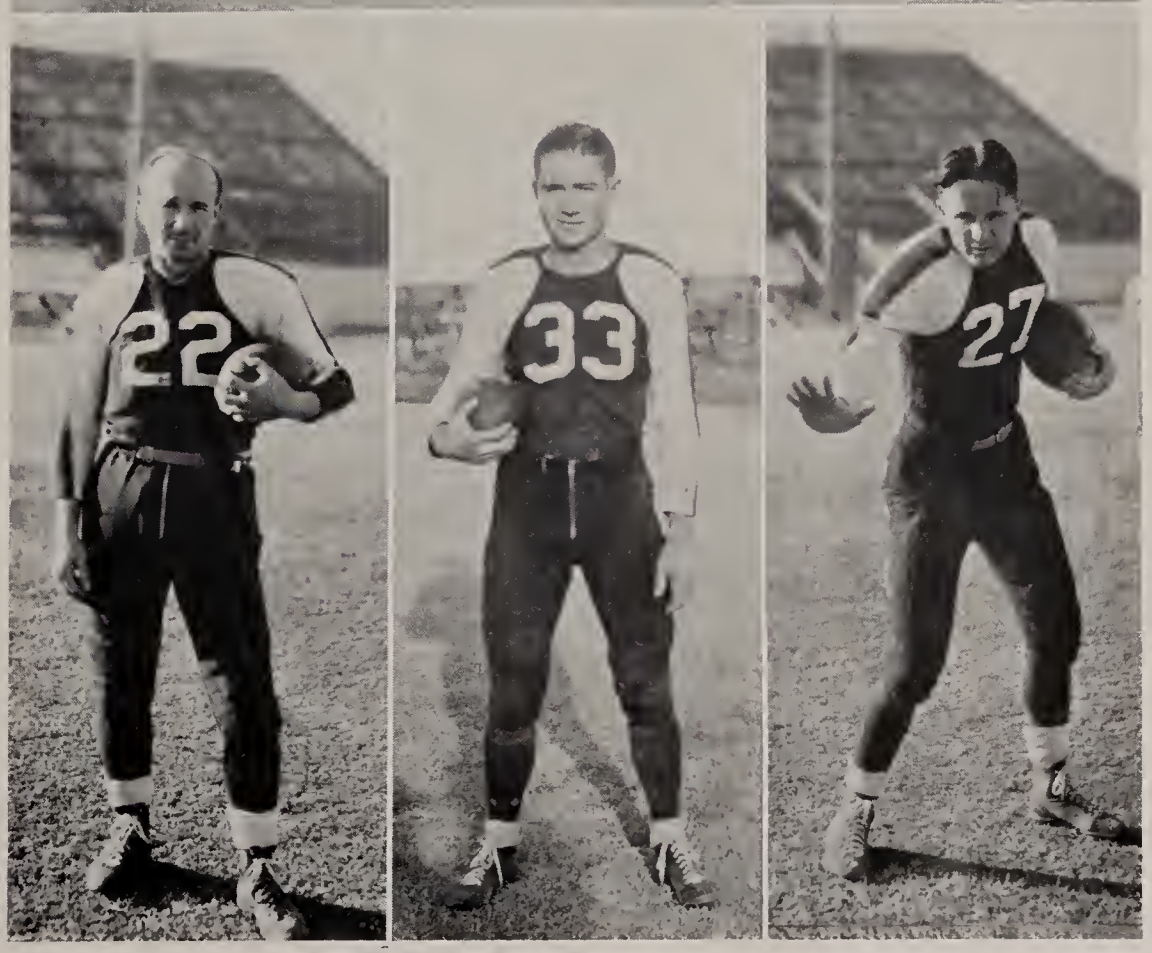
I have certainly enjoyed working with you. Keep up the good work always a friend Sugar Cain

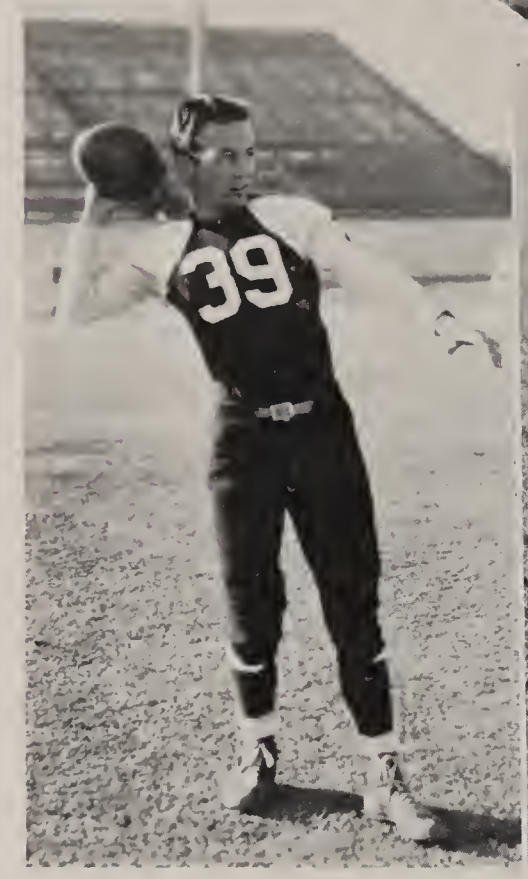
John Lee, formerly a stellar end on the Amarillo Sandies and Junior College Badgers, earned a starting berth at tackle by a never-say-die spirit that won him much recognition. John suffered a severe leg injury at Alpine against the Sul Ross Loboes, but as he expressed it, "It doesn't matter about the leg so long as we won the game." A fighting courage that will win.

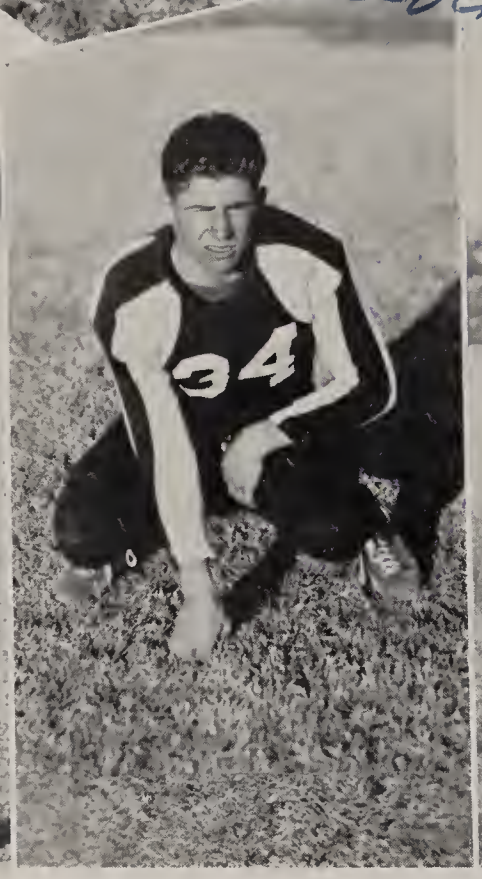
Ezell Champion demonstrated deadly blocking and consistent punting all season. "Champ", whose timely interference made many maneuvers possible, is also adroit at flipping the pigskin if the situation necessitates it.

Ronald Davis, stellar performer with the team of '32, returned to West Texas after teaching for two years. His leadership in athletics as well as in the classroom made him one of the campus favorites. Davis had an automatic plugging style that eluded many runners which characterized him as the most consistent galloping flurry on the squad.

Frank Van Noy ended his West Texas football career in a blaze of glory. He consistently got the nod for the quarterback post, and proved himself a capable field general. In addition to his ability as a signal barker, Van Noy broke into the open field that often resulted in getting pay dirt.







Tom Slack will be remembered for his marksmanship in passing. His educated arm resulted in many long gains. Slack is sure to be the backbone of W. T.'s aerial circus in the next two seasons.

R. D. Wheelock was shifted from center to tackle to create a way for Jackson. This change caused much favorable comment as Wheelock masterfully ascertained his great defensive ability at his new place. Wheelock has lettered two years and will not return.

Jack Jennings gave much promise by his tricky ball-carrying and passing.

Ray Cox, though failing to letter gave indications of shifty running and capable field generalship when the situation presented itself.

Oscar Hinger is another with very little high school experience. But he proved to be the most pleasant surprise of the '35 campaign and consistently received the nod as Captain Rankin's running mate at left guard.

Jack Davis has lettered two years at an end post, and still has another to go. In addition to his 190 pounds, Davis is a good pass receiver, and dependable blocker.

Lwood Dow was the nucleus of the '35 scoring punch. Though only a sophomore, Dow displayed experience, power, speed, rhythm and alertness. He was personally responsible for a majority of the team's counters, and was unusually adept at sending the ball between the uprights for the extra point.

Doyle Johnston, transfer from Lamar Junior College at Beaumont, was a strengthening addition to the squad this season by his plucky and aggressive tackling. His withdrawal from school leaves vacant a guard berth that Coach Baggett will have much trouble in replacing.

Lawrence Clark broadcasted his elusive swerving running all season, and always got the nod as a starter from the running halfback position. Clark was also a deadly tackler and superb pass catcher.

BUFFALO VARSITY SQUAD

After inaugurating the 1935 season with an impressive triumph over the Panhandle Aggies, the Buffaloes suffered a let-down and lost three games in rapid succession to three great passing combinations from Southeastern Teachers, Texas Wesleyan College, and McMurry. They retaliated with two easy wins over the New Mexico Normal 34-0 and Texas School of Mines14-0. The Buffs faced one of the nation's classiest aggregations on Homecoming day in clashing with the Ravens of St. Benedict's. The Buffs drew first blood when Dow scored, but the Ravens returned with a dazzling touchdown parade to victor 21-7. The N. M. M. I. Cadets were the next victims of the clever passing and running attack of the Baggettmen, 20-7. The Buffs reached great heights when they battled the highly-touted Bronchos of Central Teachers of Edmond, Oklahoma. They even surpassed these heights to bid the season farewell by upsetting the Sul Ross Loboes 7-6 before the Governor. A season's resume finds five wins, four losses and one tie in the ten game schedule.

Boasting a galaxy of high school stars, the Yearlings were victors in only one of their three games but gave evidence that they will make many varsity men hustle for their positions next fall.

The charges of Coach Teague furnished a pleasant surprise when they limited their game with the Texas Tech Frosh to a 10-7 score. They were outclassed by a polished machine from Portales Junior College. They finished their schedule by surpassing the Jackrabbits of Wayland by a score of 12-0.

BASKETBALL

Captain-elect Butch Clark follows in the footsteps of his brother as being one of the trickiest and flashiest ball-handlers to play for the maroon and white. Clark is sure to climax his college days in a blaze of glory next year.

George Ray Colvin's glamorous all-round ability will never be forgotten at W. T. He controlled the ball from the tip-off and spoiled many a game this year by garnering all the laurels in the scoring column. His illness at the end of the season prevented his participation in the National A. A. U. Tourney.

Jack Davis literally burned up as a Frosh, and this year exhibited a scoring push shot that made him a dangerous man to guard. He will return next year.

Captain Willie Boedeker was an inspiration to his teammates all year by his consistent plugging type that rarely ever failed. Willie was always after that rebound, and proved himself worthy of his honor.

Curtis Clement ended his third year with the Buffs as a great hustler and deadly shooter. His timely breaking, speed with his ability to score with either hand earned him a regular forward post.

Conway Butler didn't hit his stride until the middle of the season, when he was selected on the starting five. His accurate overhead push shot with his excellent ball-handling stamps him a valuable ballhawk.

Dearest Brown,

Glad I like the way you play basketball.

You have been a real pal to me and I'm glad we'll be back next year. Luck,

Conway

Ronald Davis, a consistent hustler and capable ball-handler was missed at the end of the season by his untimely withdrawal from school.

Marvin Myers, rangy pivot man, was a potent addition to the Buff squad and in several intercollegiate games, he gave a plausible account of himself in all departments of the game.

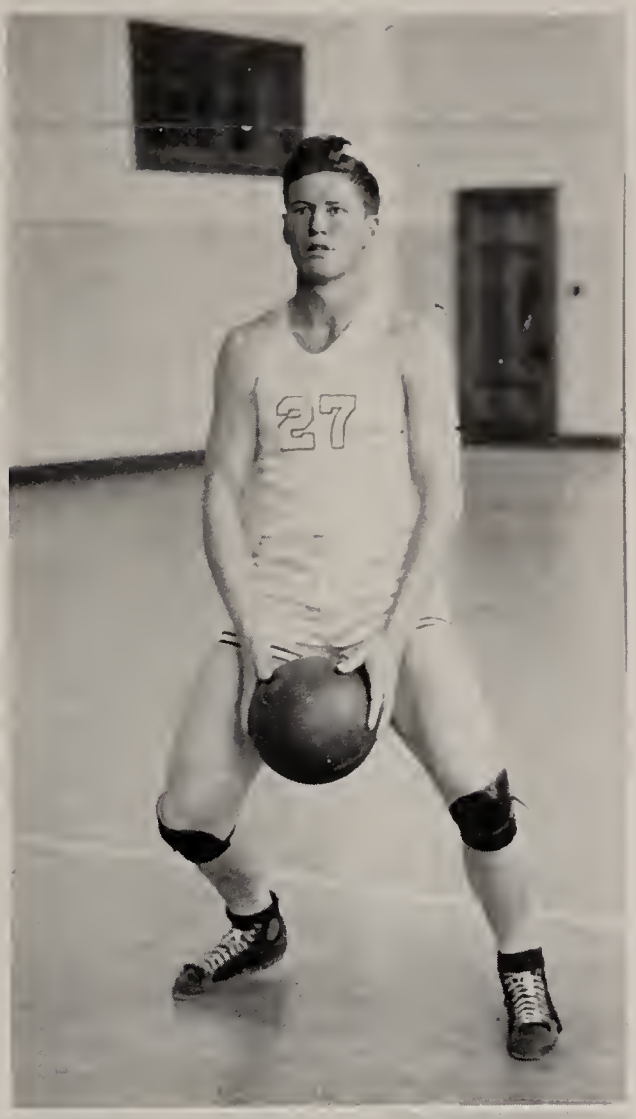
BUFFALO BASKETBALL SQUAD

Disregarding their two easy victories over the Portales Junior College, the Buffaloes started slowly but gather cumulative momentum to finish the season with 19 victories and nine losses—a batting average of .679. They maintained a perfect record on the remodeled Burton Gymnasium—a string of 12 victories.

The season was characterized by a series of close defeats on foreign fields. The season's play was terminated by flashing a dazzling attack against the Arkansas State Teachers at the National Tournament at Denver to lose by a close margin. Captain Boedeker, George Ray Colvin, and Curtis Clement were the nucleus of the scoring punch aided by the timely floorwork of Conway Butler and Captain-elect Lawrence Clark.

They accomplished the unexpected by checking the invasion of the highly touted Simmons Cowboys and the O. C. U. Goldbugs on the local hardwood. Only three of the squad are lost by graduation—Colvin, Clement and Captain Boedeker.

Craig Walling, fiery red-headed ball hawk, showed his many capabilities by his clever passing and accurate goal-shooting. Though lacking in the finer points, Walling possessed an unorthodox style that marks him as a basketeer with chances for acquiring cage fame.



B. F. Taylor, flashy forward of last year's formidable freshman team, continued to pound the hoop in the practice sessions. He failed to see much service but his uncanny eye for the hoop with his accurate push-shot at full speed makes him a promising prospect.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL SQUAD

In winning nine games out of eleven starts, this year's yearling edition of Coach Bob Cox flashed the smoothest ball-playing a first year team has ever presented. Their two losses were at the hands of the Portales Junior College and Wayland. They had previously defeated both teams. The season's scoring was paced by "Too Tall" Shackleford who collected 115 points. Johnson and Hayes followed in the scoring column. Speer, at guard displayed stellar defensive work. The future of West Texas basketball lies on this group, and they have created many pleasant expectations.

RESULTS OF FALL TENNIS MATCHES

West Texas	3	N. M. M. I.	4
West Texas	5	Pan. A & M	1
West Texas	0	T. Tech	6

West Texas has the prospects for another winning net combination. Coach W. E. Lockhart is an age-old mentor at the game, and has produced several net celebreties. This year's edition has indicated that they will be formidable competition in the Lone Star Conference meet at San Marcos.

This year's squad was paced by a duet of sophomore racqueteers—Glyndon Riley, number one singles man and George T. Smalley, backbone of the doubles team. Riley's star backcourt strategy was his main asset, which Smalley defended on his sharply angled volleys. Curry was not eligible for conference competition but demonstrated a stroking game worthy of mention. Allison and Howard are squadmen that lacked experience but broadcasted the probability for improvement. Darrell Hemphill made his debut this year, and though he lacks polish, is sure to display a driving game that classes him as potential material in his two remaining years.

Coach Jones. The Team: Burke, Savage, Townsend, Miles, Blaine, J. Blaine.

Swimming, formerly classed as a nonenity by the athletic cabinet, was organized this year as a minor sport on the campus under the mentorship of Coach Mitchell Jones. With virtually little experience, many aspirants reported, and Coach Jones whittled his team of inexperienced swimmers. West Texas' first intercollegiate aquatic team participated in a dual meet at Roswell, N. M. against the N. M. M. I. cadets. They were smothered by a score of 66 to 16, but swimming had been established as a sport at W. T. by giving much evidence that it is destined to rise, when the new pool now under construction becomes available. Jack Jennings, stellar fancy diver and water poloist was elected to captain the 1936 swimming squad.

LE MIRAGE

It has been a pleasure to serve you in the preparation of your book. It is of course a gigantic task, requiring the major portion of a whole year and the combined efforts of many people, but those who accept the responsibility realize its greatness and the labor is given willingly and gladly.

We have attempted to portray the happenings of the year in which we thought you would be most interested as a student body. If we have not accorded you the credit and recognition that you think is due, we are sorry and ask your forgiveness. But if we have prepared your book in a manner that reflects honor and praise for you and our Alma Mater, and you are happy in possessing it, what more could we—the staff—ask?

THE PRAIRIE

From the small beginning of The Prairie as a semi-monthly publication seventeen years ago, it has developed into one of the outstanding college newspapers of Texas and the Southwest. The paper is written and edited by undergraduates, aided by a faculty adviser. In this way it is made both the official voice of W. T., sounding the opinions of the students and faculty. Its purpose, besides being a mere journal of campus activities, is to preserve a cross-section of college life accurately enough to be preserved permanently.

The Prairie has membership in interstate and national press associations as well as in the local press club.

Whatever success The Prairie has had has been due directly to the efforts of the individual members of the staff under the helpful guidance and timely counsel of its sponsor, Mrs. T. V. Reeves.

THE PRESS CLUB

The Press Club, begun in the College, January 1923, was originally called the Type High Club and was composed of members of The Prairie and Le Mirage staffs. Through lack of leadership, the club was discontinued for several years. Three years ago the club was reorganized, and under the sponsorship of Mrs. T. V. Reeves and Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, the club is one of the foremost organizations on the campus.

Each year, the club enters the state organization, Texas Intercollegiate Press Association, contests. In 1935, members of the club won several honors in the contests. The Prairie won second place in the Class B college newspaper contest. The Prairie won a loving cup for first place in 1934. The 1934 Le Mirage also won a loving cup.

The convention of the Association was held at Huntsville last year and at Alpine this year. Several members of the W. T. Press Club were delegates to the convention.

Composed of twenty girls chosen at random, the organization strives to be of service to the college at all times. Special duties have been for the past four years, ushering on special occasions and co-sponsoring the coronation of the College Queen. Prior to that time, the main objective of Pi Omega was for the promotion of pep in W. T. S. T. C., the organization having originated under the name of "Red Hots".

Weekly meetings are held at the homes of members and of the Sponsor. Outstanding in the social life of the organization is the annual Spring Banquet-Dance given in honor of ex-Pi Omegas.

There are four classes of membership in Alpha Chi—active or undergraduate, graduate, alumnus, and honorary.

The top-ranking tenth of recent sophomore, junior and senior classes are eligible to active membership.

Honorary membership consists of two classes: (1) one faculty member, (2) two ex-students who have a bachelor's degree from this institution, who each year are chosen by the active members because of some outstanding work.

COUSINS - SESAME

The Cousins-Sesame Literary Societies and their activities have become traditions in the history of W. T. The societies were organized in September, 1910, soon after the opening of the college. Ever since that time they have had their share in making the lives of hundreds of students brighter and more enjoyable. The formation of literary tastes, the use and development of talent, and the promotion of friendships among old and new students have been the aims of the society. The membership has always consisted of students who are outstanding in both social and literary activities.

The International Relations Club was organized in 1929. Promoting international peace and understanding is the prime purpose of this unit of Clubs under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundations for International Peace which supplies books for the I. R. C. library.

Meeting bi-monthly, the club has informal programs in which speakers and members of the club participate. West Texas delegates attended the Texas-New Mexico Regional Conference in Albuquerque, March 4.

Mr. S. H. Condron and Mr. Herschel Coffee of the Government and Economics department are sponsors of the organization, and membership increased greatly during the year due to greater interest in the foreign affairs.

In the spring of 1934 a group of W. T. students organized themselves into a study club, the Pi Beta Gamma, known as the Science Club. The students were science majors. The problems which they wished to become more familiar with were problems of scientific nature. They featured diligent research or investigation of materials and the great phenomena of nature. Persons interested in science delivered addresses at the monthly meetings.

Membership is restricted to Chemistry, Biology, and Physics Majors of Sophomore standing. This year associate membership was offered to freshman science majors.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The functions of the Wesley Foundation may be stated under four heads.

1. To help adapt the program of the local church to the needs of the college students and to help students relate themselves vitally to the local church.

2. To help enrich and promote campus religious life and to help the local church meet its responsibilities for college students.

3. To aid in unifying all the religious interests of the students so that every religious agency will count for the utmost in the total program.

4. To train leaders for the extension of God's kingdom.

SPANISH CLUB

El Circulo Espanol de Mendez Pidal was first organized in 1926 and was named for Mendez Pidal, the great Spanish philologist and scholar. Under the leadership of Miss Hudspeth and Miss Charlton, the Club has continued to function.

The purpose of the club is to arouse interest in the use of the Spanish language, to give practice in speaking and hearing Spanish, to familiarize the student with Spanish life and customs, to gain a broader knowledge of the psychology of the Spanish-speaking nations, and to establish closer relations among the students of Spanish. To accomplish this purpose, interesting programs are arranged throughout the year.

ELAPHEIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Elapheian Literary Society was organized to provide social and literary activity for its members. It offers an opportunity for the development of initiative and self-expression. The society is governed by the students themselves with the help of the faculty sponsors chosen each year. The Elapheians have always been among the leaders on this campus, having among their number students outstanding in both literary and social affairs.

The first purpose of the Elapheian Literary Society is to develop the highest ideals of young womanhood among the students of the school. The second aim is to import a knowledge of parliamentary law and to develop individual responsibility in conducting the affairs of the society, thus aiding properly the social development of its members.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Nearing the end of another college long term, Baptist students may look forward and backward and perceive a successful year. The Baptist Student Union is a composite of all unit organizations in the Baptist work, and it serves as a connecting link between the College and the Church. During the year, nearly two hundred students have enlisted in the various phases of activity which include extension programs into nearby rural communities, a bi-monthly newspaper publication, personal soul-winning and enlistment on the local campus, and the sending of groups to both the State B. S. U. Retreat at Glen Rose and the State B. S. U. Convention at Huntsville. Plans have now been completed for an envoy of at least five students to attend the All-Southwide B. S. U. Retreat at Ridgecrest, North Carolina.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation is a national federation of organizations and individuals brought into being to safeguard girls' sports and to help bring to every girl opportunity to take part in recreational athletics suited to her strength.

The Women's Athletic Association is only a link in this long chain. Through our organization we help to establish in practice the principles of conduct of girls' athletics which are recognized as most appropriate to girls of different age, groups, and strength limitations. We serve as a source of information and help to individuals who wish to utilize our resources. We aim to promote competition that stresses enjoyment of sport and the development of good sportsmanship and character rather than those types that emphasize the making and breaking of records.

Every woman attending W. T. S. T. C. is cordially invited to come and play with us and join us in working to further the ideals of real womanhood and clean play.

COMMENTS OF MERIT

Pat Mooney: The little girl from Kenna, New Mexico, who yodles—If you don't believe it—with the slightest provocation she will burst forth in a whiskey tenor for your benefit.

Jack Veazey: He cuts a caper with the ladies—at least he thinks he does. He replaces the former team member—Newman Carr.

Stina Cain: Big I, little you—The man of importance in football and boxing.

Horace Hickox: Promoted from the leading hobo of the campus to the honored position of water boy on the H. A. team.

Hazel Kirby: A loud voice, a strident manner—Possibly a high school type—We give up.

Coy Palmer: The man who knows the faculty—He puts on the so called college dances (at such rare intervals, the students have to have instruction in the art between times).

Four long years he worked and sweated,
Labored conscientiously,
Crammed for tests and wrote his papers.
Then he won his Phi Beta key.
Now he's working at a counter,
And while waiting to make sales
Reaches for the gold insignia
And calmly cleans his finger nails.

...ridin' herd

UP THE LONG TRAIL from this Llano Estacado of Texas, herds of longhorns streamed in the days not so very long ago but which are legend now. Pictures and stories of those days bring back thrilling scenes from the history which Texas so proudly celebrates this birthday year of 1936, the first Centennial. ★ In the pages of your annual you ride herd on another long trail and the pages keep the story for all the years to come. You have let us ride herd with you for part of the trail. It's a pleasant part of our job to ride herd with students on annuals. We'd like to ride with you again.

OUR STUDENT BODY!

Bethine Williams was vacationing in the country and became friendly with a farmer boy. One evening as they were strolling across a pasture they saw a cow and a calf rubbing noses in the accepted bovine fashion.

"Ah," said the farmer boy, "that sight makes me want to do the same."

"Well go ahead", said Bethine, "it's your cow."
